Public software repositories such as Github, Sourceforge or Google Code provide tools for collaborative software development. The analysis of such repositories, commits and activities of developers may provide useful insights into security related information and practices.

Goals:
- Define methodology and approach
- Extract security related information
- Analyze metrics and data

Interests:
- Web technologies & APIs
- Information search & retrieval
- Knowledge discovery
- NLP / NLU

Contact: bojan.suzic@iaik.tugraz.at